Dear Parents/Guardians:

Around midnight last night, I was notified via text about an email that was sent out to school districts around the state of Indiana in regards to a bomb threat. This email was sent to thirty-five superintendents, including me. I notified the LaGrange County Sheriff's Department and forwarded them the email. The Indiana State Police and Homeland Security were also aware of the threat. Our school officials communicated with the sheriffs of LaGrange County and Steuben County early this morning and both recommended attending school as normal as this was considered a random, low-level threat. This same scenario occurred in Washington on Wednesday with a random threat sent to thirty-five school districts across the state.

As always, student safety is our top priority and we would not be in attendance if we believed anyone's safety was in jeopardy.

Respectfully,

Jeff Reed
Superintendent
